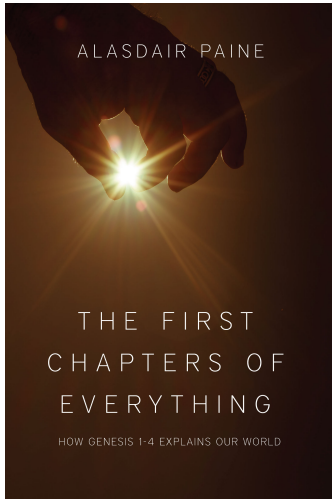
The First Chapters of Everything

How Genesis Chapters 1 to 4 Explains Our World

Alasdair Paine

RELEASE DATE 20 JULY 2015



RELATED TITLES

MARKETING POINTS

Explaining the message of Genesis 1?4

Applying it to our lives today

Showing why these chapters are written as they are

AUTHOR

Alasdair Paine is Vicar (senior minister) of St. Andrew the Great, Cambridge, and was for twelve years a trustee of the Keswick Convention. He was previously an assistant minister in Exeter and senior minister of Christ Church Westbourne, in Bournemouth, England.

ENDORSEMENTS

There is no better brief introduction to [Gen. 1-4] than this. Alasdair Paine helpfully engages with the complex questions of interpretation but never gets bogged down... The focus throughout is God's contemporary message to us through these chapters, which is presented with great clarity and powerful application.

Vaughan Roberts
Rector of St Ebbe's, Oxford and Director of Proclamation Trust

Deceptively clear and digestible style... He is preoccupied with 'What is God saying to us here?' and refuses to allow the elephant of secondary issues to stand between us and the Genesis text (though he provides additional notes for the curious). Here is a book I found refreshing my spirit, stimulating my mind, and nourishing my soul.

Dale Ralph Davis
Respected Author and Old Testament Scholar

Anyone seeking a wise, accessible guide to the crucial first chapters of Genesis need look no further. I found Alasdair's sure-footed work most illuminating and enriching.

Julian Hardyman
Senior Pastor, Eden Baptist Church, Cambridge

Alasdair Paine is an accomplished geographer, pastor and Bible student and all these disciplines add to the rich depth of his writing. Alasdair's insights, illustrations and sensitive application make this a very healthy read indeed... Here's a hearty read for the health of your soul.

David Cook
Founder, Expository Preaching Trust, Australia

TECHNICAL DETAILS

TRADE PAPERBACK
192 Pages

ISBN 9781781913239
BISAC REL006060
PRICE £7.99 $11.99