Counting the Cost

Kidnapped in the Niger Delta

David Donovan and Shirley Donovan

RELEASE DATE 10 MAY 2019

RELATED TITLES

DESCRIPTION

MARKETING POINTS

First hand account

British missionaries kidnapped in Nigeria

Story of God's grace in the midst of terrifying circumstances

AUTHOR

David Donovan has been a Primary Care doctor for over 20 years. In 2003 he co–founded New Foundations Medical Mission, working in the remote region of the Niger Delta.

Shirley Donovan graduated in history from Edinburgh University. She retrained in nursing to aid the Mission she co–established in Nigeria, in response to God's call on her life.

ENDORSEMENTS

This gripping book tells a true story of hostage–taking and murder, told first–hand by those who experienced it. It is also the story of how three hostages found God's perspective in a time of great trial from a Bible which they had with them in captivity. I found the book both humbling and a great challenge to complacency.

Alasdair Paine
Vicar of St. Andrew the Great, Cambridge

David and Shirley Donovan were willing to risk personal comfort and security in obedience to Christ. This book is their testimony to God's goodness in sustaining them through an ordeal of pain, terror, and uncertainty.

Sharon James
Social Policy Analyst, The Christian Institute

I finished the book praising God for their courage, and even more, for His all–sufficient grace in our Lord Jesus Christ.

Charles M. Wingard
Associate Professor of Practical Theology and Dean of Students, Reformed Theological Seminary, Jackson, Mississippi

This testimony of God's presence in the trial and the lessons learned will encourage and challenge every reader.

Peter Maiden
International Director Emeritus, Operation Mobilisation

TECHNICAL DETAILS

LARGE TRADE PAPERBACK
224 Pages

ISBN 9781527103061
BISAC BIO018000
PRICE £9.99 $12.99