ENDORSEMENTS

Too many people—kids and parents—miss out on the rich truths of the Minor Prophets. So I am happy to recommend Zephaniah by Dr. Wright and Pastor Brown as a rich resource for families. This fresh look at an overlooked book will bless you and your children.

Dianne Jago
Mother of three, founder of Deeply Rooted Magazine, & author of 'A Holy Pursuit: How the Gospel Frees Us to Follow and Lay Down Our Dreams'

Kudos to the authors for making the Minor Prophets accessible to children through these illustrated, engaging summaries of each of the twelve books.

Robert B. Chisholm, Jr.
Chair and Professor of Old Testament Studies, Dallas Theological Seminary, Texas & author of 'Interpreting the Minor Prophets' and 'Handbook on the Prophets'

Brian Wright and John Brown provide beautifully crafted and compelling renditions of the Minor Prophets in ways that we and our children can understand better the powerful message of these books of the Bible.

Bruce Ware
Professor of Christian Theology, The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky & author of 'Big Truths for Young Hearts'

Why not just skip Zephaniah? Because we might miss Jesus in the Minor Prophets, as Brian and John show us. Zephaniah is not about a man by that name. It's about the gospel—God's grace in sending Jesus!

Barbara Reaoch
Former director, Children's Division of Bible Study Fellowship International & author of 'A Better Than Anything Christmas' and 'A Jesus Christmas'
