DESCRIPTION

Stories are powerful. They shape us and stay with us in a way that nothing else does. Ideas and wisdom can be portrayed in a way that draws the listener or reader in. Stories can build relationships and understanding. They can help to make sense of confusing concepts. In this compelling addition to the Track series, Joe Deegan explains why stories are so important – and what role they play in our everyday lives.

MARKETING POINTS

The importance of stories in our lives

How to read God's story in the Bible

How to live out our own stories

AUTHOR

Joe Deegan was born and raised in the small town of Tuscumbia, Alabama and currently lives in Houston, Texas with his wife Leah and his four kids Ellie, Sam, Will, and Maggie. Joe spent seven years working as a youth minister and has been the Worship Resource Coordinator for Reformed Youth Ministries since 2018.

ENDORSEMENTS

Joe Deegan has reminded us of the power of the greatest story ever told, the gospel story told from Genesis 1 to Revelation 22. It's the story that redeems our past, transforms our present and secures our future with Christ in eternity. This is not a book simply about the power of a story, but rather the power in the gospel story. I am encouraged as I read it, and I hope it encourages you the same.

Robbie Seay
Singer–songwriter

We all love a good story. The Power of Story is about stories, but not just any story. It's about the greatest story of all. Teens, read this book to learn how your story was written to fit into God's great big story.

Christina Fox
Counselor, retreat speaker and author

Story stays with us and can help us see the truth. The Power Of Story goes straight to the heart with this Track series, building a bridge between God's Word and our lives in real time. This new series is a winsome resource for teenagers, helping them to know and believe that God meets us right where we are.

Sandra McCracken
Singer–songwriter

Everyone knows the value of story…everyone, that is, except the church, and yet we have the greatest story ever told written in a book of stories—the Bible! Joe Deegan helps us to rediscover the power of story, why it's so effective and why we need to rediscover it for today's world. You'll enjoy this book.

Paul E. Miller
Author of A Praying Life and founder of 'seeJesus' ministries
