DESCRIPTION

This practical guide will help you make evangelism a natural part of everyday life. It begins by pointing you to what evangelism has always been – declaring God’s glory among the nations. It then differentiates between those gifted to be Evangelists and those who have a different calling before getting into the practical details of what it means to be involved in the saving work of the gospel. If you long to see people saved by the power of the gospel, or feel guilty about not taking every chance to tell people about Jesus, this book will encourage and challenge you.

MARKETING POINTS

Introducing non-Christian friends to Christ

AUTHOR

Andy Paterson served as lead pastor at Kensington Baptist Church in inner-city Bristol for 24 years, planting several churches. He was Mission Director of the FIEC for a decade, helping shape their missional culture. He now serves as a pastor at Charlotte Chapel in Edinburgh. He is married to Kath, and they have two children and five grandchildren.

ENDORSEMENTS

This book is a gift that will keep on giving, helping people to share the good news of the gospel to a world in need of God’s grace.

Ed Stetzer

Dean, Talbot School of Theology, Biola University, La Mirada, California

This is the book for which I have long been waiting. Informative, inspirational and, at times, provocative. Quick fixes are exposed, and longstanding yet unquestioned evangelistic practices are winsomely critiqued.

David Meredith

Mission Director, Free Church of Scotland, Edinburgh

... the best book on evangelism I’ve read for a long time. Heart-warming, guilt-removing and very thought-provoking.
