Inspired By a Blank Screen

Re-boot your Spiritual Life

Irene Howat

RELEASE DATE 20 JULY 2007

RELATED TITLES

AUTHOR

Irene Howat is an award–winning author and poet who lives in Scotland.

ENDORSEMENTS

"The very title of this excellent book is intriguing. The author has clearly used the computer to illustrate and examine the various fundamentals of the Christian faith. This is done in an entirely original way by using commands shown on a computer screen... The book will be of value not only to the individual reader but to church leaders, pastors and study group."

Christian Writer Publication

"Irene Howat takes inspiration from her computer and using the workings of a Word document to illustrate how to live the Christian life. There is advice on what to save, what to print, what to copy, what to delete, rules and tools, and how to shut down and restart!"

Woman Alive

"Over the course of twenty years, I have learned to use my word-processor fairly efficiently: as I read this book, I felt deeply challenged as to whether I had learned equally thoroughly how to live the Christian life - not merely efficiently, but more importantly, as a humble 'copy' of the life of my Lord and Saviour."

Helen Roseveare
(1925–2016) Former missionary to the Congo, internationally respected speaker with WEC ministries and author

TECHNICAL DETAILS

TRADE PAPERBACK
176 Pages

ISBN 9781845502638
BISAC REL012120
PRICE £6.99 $10.99