DESCRIPTION

Even good things can become idols if we give them central importance in our lives. Having children changes everything, and as mothers, we risk looking for life, purpose and meaning in motherhood. While being a mother brings its unique set of challenges, these years of raising children and helping them grow in the nurture and admonition of the Lord provide an opportunity to grow in our own Christlikeness as well.

ENDORSEMENTS

This book is a great resource for mothers who are eager to fulfill their calling to the glorify and enjoy God.

Dr. Stephen Estock
Coordinator, PCA Discipleship Ministries

With penetrating questions, humble honesty, and gospel freedom on every page, this book will not only stretch and challenge a mother, but point her to the joy and satisfaction found in her Savior alone.

Laura Wifler
Co–Founder of Risen Motherhood

With gentle precision, Fox exposes the lesser gods that take up residence in our hearts. And, with wisdom born of personal experience, she helps readers tear them down—so that Christ might have his rightful place. Mothers, if you want to learn to hate sin and love Christ, this book is for you.

Megan Hill
Author of 'Contentment' and 'Praying Together'; Editor, The Gospel Coalition & mother of four (by birth and adoption)

Christina Fox's heart is on every page as she longs for moms to have a right view of how God sees them. With the gentle nudge of a friend, Christina encourages women to enter into mothering from the only safe place—rest and fullness in Christ.

Holly Mackle
Author of 'Same Here, Sisterfriend: Mostly True Tales of Misadventure in Motherhood' and 'Little Hearts, Prepare Him Room'
