AUTHOR

Abigail Dodds (M.A. Bethlehem College & Seminary) is a wife, mother of five children, and a member at Bethlehem Baptist Church in Minnesota. She is the author of '(A)Typical Woman' and 'Bread of Life: Savoring the All–Satisfying Goodness of Jesus through the Art of Bread Making'. She regularly contributes at desiringGod.org.

ENDORSEMENTS

Do you know that there is eternal purpose and meaning to your womanhood? It runs deeper than your skin, your clothes, your relationships, and even your self–perception. With honesty, wisdom, and clarity, Abigail Dodds reveals that God's vision for our gender, our bodies, our singleness, our marriage, is so much bigger than that of the world. And Abigail strengthens our arms: demonstrating that though we live in a battle to preserve God's biblical womanhood, we are not victims but women victorious in Christ!

Natalie Brand
Bible teacher and author of 'Priscilla, Where Are You? A Call to Joyful Theology'

Womanhood is God's good gift to humanity, and this book is a gift to the church. Crucial for today's cultural climate when our kids are being conformed to the world's ideas of identity, Track: Womanhood compellingly calls girls and young women to rejoice in who they truly are. Moms, discuss this book with your daughters! Youth group leaders, pass these out generously! Pre–teen and teenage girls, read Track: Womanhood and think deeply about what it means for you to be a woman.

Keri Folmar
Author, Delighting in the Word Bible Study series and 'The Good Portion: Scripture' and co–host of Priscilla Talk

Today, many claim that the Bible is bad news for women. Nothing could be further from the truth! In this accessible and engaging book, Abigail Dodds shows that God's creation design is good news – for all of us!
