Track: A Student's Guide to Politics

Joshua Wester

RELEASE DATE 14 MAY 2024

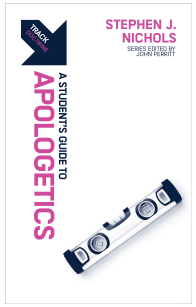

RELATED TITLES

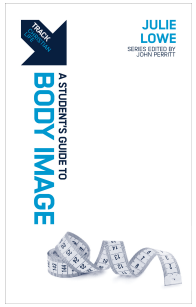

9781527104501
£3.99 $4.99

9781527109674
£3.99 $4.99

9781527110045
£3.99 $4.99

DESCRIPTION

People say that religion and politics shouldn't mix, but God has a lot to say about how we live together. Politics touches many things in our lives, and so, as Christians, we should examine our political beliefs in the light of what God says. Joshua Wester tackles crucial topics that young adults should be thinking about as they think about how they engage with the political process and get involved in conversations about politics. An invaluable guide for young adults.

MARKETING POINTS

Track series for young adults

Aligning political beliefs with Christian faith

What the Bible says on how communities function

AUTHOR

Joshua Wester serves as Director of Content and Chair of Research in Christian Ethics for the Ethics and Religious Liberty Commission. He also serves as Lead Pastor of Cornerstone Baptist Church in Greensboro, North Carolina. He and his wife McCaffity have three children.

ENDORSEMENTS

Every young person should read this book. This book handles this delicate and controversial topic with skill and biblical precision.

Daniel Darling
Director, The Land Center for Cultural Engagement, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas; author, 'The Dignity Revolution'

… a thought–provoking guide rooted in the distinctiveness of the Christian faith and the Kingdom of God that is packed with pastoral wisdom and insight.

Jason Thacker
Assistant Professor of Philosophy and Ethics, Boyce College, Louisville, Kentucky; author, 'Track: A Student's Guide to Social Media'

TECHNICAL DETAILS

POCKET PAPERBACK
104 Pages

ISBN 9781527110540
BISAC REL012120
PRICE £3.99 $4.99