DESCRIPTION

Of the twenty–seven books of the New Testament, thirteen are letters written by the apostle Paul to early Christian communities and individuals. These churches were working out the reality of living for Christ and His Kingdom in a world antagonistic to the gospel. Many of the individuals in these congregations were mentioned by name in Paul's letters, and there is much to be learned from them. Guy Manuell has thoroughly researched the people mentioned in Paul's letters. Each person has an individual entry, starting with the verses in which they are found, and giving a full explanation of who they were and their relationship to Paul.

- Entry for each individual mentioned in Paul's letters
- Includes chronology of Paul's life and letters
- Useful reference for preachers

AUTHOR

Guy lives with his wife, Bernice, on the Bellarine Peninsula near Geelong, Australia. They attend Bellarine Presbyterian Church. He has an MA in Early Christian & Jewish Studies (Macquarie University). His career involved economics and international finance.

ENDORSEMENTS

This book is useful to a student of Paul's letters. It includes an entry with a fair amount of detail, surprisingly so, for every single person named in these letters!

Robert J. Cara
Provost and Chief Academic Officer & Hugh and Sallie Reaves Professor of New Testament, Reformed Theological Seminary, Charlotte, North Carolina

… revisits important topics like slavery and women in Paul, the provenance of Paul's letters, the meaning of diakonos, Pauline chronology, and more. Both scholars and students will want to draw from this compendium of information and insight.

Robert W. Yarbrough
Professor of New Testament, Covenant Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Missouri
