DESCRIPTION

Created for God

What does it mean to be human? In Track: A Student's Guide to Humanity, John W. Tweeddale shows that the Bible answers this question by pointing to our relationship with God. Human beings are not self-made—we are created in God's image to know Him, live under His authority, and reflect His character in the world.

This guide helps students:

- Understand humanity as God's created and dependent creatures
- See what it means to bear God's image
- Recognize how sin disrupts our relationship with God
- Discover how Christ restores fellowship with our Creator

A clear introduction to the Bible's teaching on humanity.

AUTHOR

John W. Tweeddale is the Vice President of Academics and Professor of Theology at Reformation Bible College in Sanford, Florida. He is also a teaching elder in the Presbyterian Church in America, a visiting scholar at Queen's University Belfast, and a fellow of the Royal Historical Society.
