Different by Design traces God's specific design for men and women in the Bible from its revelation, rejection and masking, to its restoration in the lives of those who seek to apply it. With practical insights and scenarios, women especially will find this resource both biblical and culturally relevant.

Margaret Köstenberger
Associate Professor of Theology & Women's Ministry and Faculty Coordinator of Women's Ministry Programs, Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary

"Different by Design is an impressive outline of the Bible's teaching on the sensitive subject of gender. Carrie's faithful handling of the Biblical text and its application today combines depth and clarity with simplicity and grace. She argues convincingly that the differences between men and women go much deeper than the biological and, far from being oppressive, the complementary nature of their relationship is part of God's loving design for human flourishing."

Vaughan Roberts
Rector of St Ebbe's, Oxford and Director of Proclamation Trust

"Throughout the book, Carrie gives practical encouragements to live out our God-given roles, particularly in our families and churches, liberating us to be who God created us to be and inspiring us to do the work he created us to do. Males and females, whether single or married, will benefit from reading this book. May it help women, in particular, see the beauty and wisdom of God's design for our lives."

Keri Folmar
Author, Delighting in the Word Bible Study series and 'The Good Portion: Scripture' and co–host of Priscilla Talk
