New Life in the Wasteland

2 Corinthians on the Cost and Glory of Christian Ministry

Douglas F. Kelly

RELEASE DATE 20 SEPTEMBER 2003

RELATED TITLES

AUTHOR

Douglas F. Kelly is Professor of Theology Emeritus, Reformed Theological Seminary, Charlotte, North Carolina.

ENDORSEMENTS

"Faithful to the text, Douglas brings the meaning of the great themes of 2 Corinthians right into the twenty-first century. His is the gift of lifting the great apostle's thoughts and experiences and transferring them into 'light' and 'salt' for the church today. This is a book for ministers about their congregations; it also a book for congregations about their ministers! Indeed, it will be a hard heart that is not deeply moved and renewed by the reading of New Life in the Wasteland."

David Searle
Pastor and former Director of Rutherford House, Edinburgh.

"This book contains much to challenge. It is rich in spiritual teaching. I wish it a wide and attentive reading, and I pray its message will be applied - urgently!"

Evangelical Times

"Douglas Kelly takes us on a whirlwind tour of 2 Corinthians without in any way missing the Paul's main issue or overlooking is thorough argument. He brings positive encouragement indepressing times for pastors and people alike."

Stephen Atkinson, Evangelical Press

"The book is written in a simple, straight-forward style, without the use of technical terms. It is rich in vivid illustrations and is easy to read."

Evangelicals Now

TECHNICAL DETAILS

TRADE PAPERBACK
160 Pages

ISBN 9781857929034
BISAC REL006070
PRICE £7.99 $11.99