Compel Them to Come In

Calvinism and the Free Offer of the Gospel

Donald Macleod

RELEASE DATE 08 MAY 2020

RELATED TITLES

DESCRIPTION

MARKETING POINTS

Tackles objections to freely offering the gospel

Predestination and evangelism

Accessible explanations

AUTHOR

Donald Macleod (1940–2023) was the Principal of the Free Church of Scotland College, Edinburgh until 2010. Regarded as one of Britain's most prominent theologians he wrote extensively on a wide range of issues.

TECHNICAL DETAILS

5652

ISBN 9781527105652
BISAC REL093000
PRICE £7.99 $9.99

ENDORSEMENTS

This is by far the best account I have ever read on the free offer of the gospel. MacLeod demolishes all the arguments that would inhibit or restrict offering Christ freely to sinners. He sets the gospel offer in the widest context of the purpose of God and the work of Christ. Above all, he communicates this with an infectious passion for the glory of Christ and the salvation of sinners, young and old. In today's world this book is desperately needed; it could do untold good.

Robert Letham
Wales Evangelical School of Theology, Bridgend, Wales

I always enjoy reading Donald MacLeod, as much for the clarity and precision of his arguments as for the elegance of his theology. Here he addresses an important topic – the free offer of the gospel – with his usual pungency and passion. It will clarify the issue for those who believe in the free offer but are confused by its connection to God's sovereignty; and it will hopefully persuade those who are tempted to truncate God's grace in a misguided attempt to exalt his election.

Carl R. Trueman
Professor of Biblical and Religious Studies, Grove City College, Pennsylvania

Compel Him to Come In has all the trademarks we have come to recognise in Professor Donald Macleod's writings: mastery of doctrine, fulness of biblical insight, cogency of reasoning, clarity of expression, and an eloquence driven by the subject matter. At first you will think you are reading a powerful exposition of the free offer of the gospel in the face of criticisms and misunderstandings of reformed theology. It is indeed that. But by the end you will realise that it more. For Compel Him to Come In is really about the gospel itself. A book for all, it is a must–read for preachers, not least because it models the powerful, passionate appeals it commends.

Sinclair B. Ferguson
Chancellor's Professor of Systematic Theology, Reformed Theological Seminary

Too frequently the free offer of the gospel is hedged about with qualifications that distort the Biblical picture of the character of