ENDORSEMENTS

I am grateful for these articles that have been written to highlight his ministry contributions and the theological distinctives of his long and fruitful ministry. Our brother Harry Reeder is missed, but his legacy is cherished and will yield fruit for generations to come.

Peter Lillback
President, Westminster Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

... a must have, a must read and a must hide–in–your–heart work for every young man and equally for someone like me who was called to ministry later in life.

Thad James
Director, Prison Initiative and International Programs, Birmingham Theological Seminary, Alabama

The chapters contained in this book encompass so many of the things that Harry Reeder stood for—a love for people, an ability to teach, a love of ideas—all of it in service Christ and to His church.

Jonathan Master
President, Greenville Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Greenville, South Carolina

This volume not only honors God for the gift he gave us in Harry, it also provides deep insights into his character, convictions, and competencies as a pastor, which a new generation should aspire to imitate.

John Currie
Professor and Dean of Pastoral Theology, Westminster Theological Seminary, Glenside, Pennsylvania
