DESCRIPTION

Catholic Calvinism may seem like an oxymoron, but this festschrift honoring Ian Hamilton demonstrates how Reformed orthodoxy and an ecumenical spirit can coexist. The book explores how Reformed theology can maintain theological conviction while embracing a generous spirit toward other Christians.

The volume is divided into three sections: 'Orientation to Catholic Calvinism,' which defines the concept; 'Catholic Calvinist Convictions Lived Out,' which examines its practical application in areas like preaching, baptism, and the Lord's Supper; and 'Historic Role Models,' which identifies historical figures who exemplified these principles, including Augustine, Calvin, and John Owen.

Contributors include prominent theologians like Sinclair Ferguson, John MacArthur, and Joel Beeke. The essays engage with topics such as ministerial training, church unity amid theological differences, and the proper understanding of sacraments.

AUTHOR

ENDORSEMENTS

... both edifying and engaging, reflecting the rich legacy of this excellent servant of Christ. May the Lord, in His grace, be pleased to use this work far and wide for His glory alone.

Rob Ventura
Pastor, Grace Community Baptist Church, Providence, Rhode Island

These essays in honour of Ian will not only hold forth biblical truths that he treasures, but Lord willing cause you to treasure them too.

Gerald White
Pastor, Hope Church Bingham (20Schemes), Edinburgh

This volume nobly sets out some of the core convictions in which we should all hope to emulate Ian Hamilton: Reformed confessional fidelity, catholic spirit, and pastoral heart. Many of these essays are uniquely informative and soul stirring as snapshots into a model of magnificent ministry.

Harrison Perkins
Pastor, Oakland Hills Community Church (OPC), Farmington Hills, Michigan; author, 'Righteous by Design: Covenantal Merit and Adam's Original Integrity'

Ian Hamilton is an international treasure ... a preacher, theologian, author, international conference speaker, and much more. These chapters are a very fine attempt to address all aspects of his ministry. This book is a triumph in every respect.

Derek W. H. Thomas
Teaching Fellow, Ligonier Ministries; Retired Senior Minister, First Presbyterian Church (ARP), Columbia, South Carolina
