DESCRIPTION

Loving the Law: The Law of God in the Life of the Believer by Stephen Spinnenweber offers a fresh, engaging exploration of the Ten Commandments and their enduring relevance for Christians today. In an era where many view God's law as outdated or oppressive, Spinnenweber presents a compelling case for embracing the Moral Law as a gift of divine love and wisdom.

Spinnenweber skillfully addresses common misconceptions about the law's place in the Christian life. He demonstrates how a proper understanding of God's law enhances our appreciation of the gospel, rather than diminishing it. Readers will discover how the law and grace work in beautiful harmony to shape believers into the image of Christ.

Key features of the book include:

- Clear explanations of challenging theological concepts
- Practical applications for daily Christian living
- Engaging writing style accessible to both new and mature believers
- Thoughtful interaction with historical Reformed theology
- Careful handling of difficult passages and apparent contradictions

Spinnenweber's pastoral heart shines through as he guides readers to a deeper love for God's perfect law. He masterfully shows how the law, rightly understood, leads to greater joy, freedom, and holiness in the Christian life.

- Also included is a foreword by Jonathan Master, President of Greenville Presbyterian Theological Seminary in South Carolina.

… when the Spirit of the living God writes the law of God on our hearts, then we say with the godly through the ages, "Your law is my delight!"

Jeremy Walker
Pastor, Maidenbower Baptist Church, UK

This book will help you see that the law of God is the Christian's friend. It is the act of a friend to help us express the gratitude we feel for the Lord Jesus Christ (who bore the penalty of the law we have broken), by living a life of growing evangelical obedience—and this is exactly the role law plays in the life of Christian.

Senior Minister, First Presbyterian Church, Jackson, Mississippi
