DESCRIPTION

Is God Calling You to Pastor His Church?

Should you be considering pastoral ministry? If so, where do you start? A Noble Task is your go–to guide for navigating this life–changing decision.

Drawing from 30 years in ministry, Alasdair Paine tackles the big questions head–on: What makes pastoring such a worthwhile calling? How do you know if you're cut out for it? What about those nagging practical worries about money, family, and work–life balance?

But this isn't just theory – Paine brings in the real deal with stories from pastors in the trenches. Five seasoned ministers share their journeys with refreshing honesty, showing what church leadership actually looks like in different settings.

- Celebrate the incredible privilege of pastoral ministry
- Get real about the challenges you'll face
- Clear, biblical guidance every step of the way

Whether you're actively exploring the call to ministry, being nudged by others to consider it, or just want to understand what your pastor actually does all week, "A Noble Task" is your roadmap for the journey ahead.

AUTHOR

Alasdair Paine is Vicar (senior minister) of St. Andrew the Great, Cambridge, and was for twelve years a trustee of the Keswick Convention. He was previously an assistant minister in Exeter and senior minister of Christ Church Westbourne, in Bournemouth, England.

ENDORSEMENTS

This short and succinct book gives a compelling portrait of the work of a pastor. It is packed with faithful biblical teaching, helpful practical advice, moving personal testimony, pertinent wisdom from the past, and honest advice from current pastors serving in different evangelical churches.

John Stevens
National Director, Fellowship of Independent Evangelical Churches, Market Harborough, Leicestershire

The task of full-time ministry is a noble one, but also a daunting one for many considering entering it. Alasdair's book is a brilliant summary of what is involved when anyone wrestles with this challenge. It is brief, biblical, balanced and readable. I warmly recommend it.

Kenny Boyd
Minister, Govanhill Free Church, Glasgow

Alasdair's gracious and godly voice echoes through these pages and points readers to the only true source of wisdom for ministry – God's own word. This brief but valuable book speaks much sense and gives rich food for thought and prayer.

Jonathan Griffiths
President, Heritage College & Seminary, Cambridge, Ontario, Canada

Here we get warm, biblical, nuanced, wise, challenging, engaging and inspiring counsel from an experienced and thoughtful pastor ... an essential resource for churches, church leaders and those considering gospel ministry.

Andy Mason
Minister, St John's Church, Chelsea, London; Mission Director, Co-Mission Network
