Cessationism and the Sufficiency of Scripture

Why Apostles, Prophets, and Tongues Have Ended and the Bible is Enough

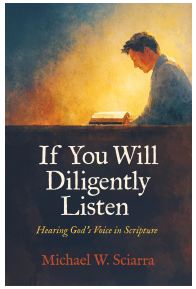

Joshua Chipchase

RELEASE DATE 17 NOVEMBER 2026

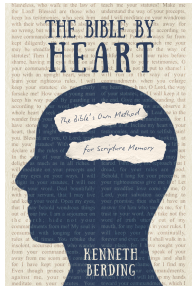

RELATED TITLES

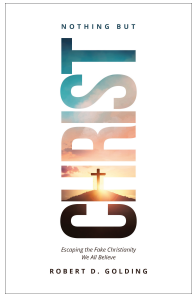

9781527113763
£6.99 $9.79

9781527113183
£6.29 $9.09

9781527114326
£11.99 $15.99

DESCRIPTION

Why Extraordinary Gifts Are Past and Scripture Alone Guides Us Today

Joshua Chipchase tackles one of the most important and often misunderstood debates in modern Christianity. With clarity and conviction, this book argues that God's final and complete revelation has already been given – and it is found in Scripture alone.

Far from being a dry theological discussion, this work shows how your view of spiritual gifts shapes everything from how you interpret the Bible to how you make life decisions. By carefully examining biblical evidence, Chipchase challenges the idea that miraculous gifts continue today and presents a compelling case for their unique, foundational role in the early church.

What you'll gain from this book:

- A biblical definition of spiritual gifts
- Clear arguments for why apostleship, prophecy, and tongues have ceased
- A deeper confidence in the authority and sufficiency of the Bible
- Practical implications for church life, decision-making, and spiritual growth

Thoughtful, accessible, and rooted in Scripture, this book will help you stand firmly on God's Word, trusting that the Bible is not lacking, but completely sufficient for life and godliness.

AUTHOR

Joshua Chipchase is a graduate of The Master's University and Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and is a member of the Association of Certified Biblical Counselors (ACBC). He is the Associate Pastor at Faith Bible Church in Salina, Kansas. He is married to Kathryn and has five young children.

ENDORSEMENTS

The short chapters, the lucidity of the author's language and style, and the manifest desire to let God's word speak for itself, makes this book a must-have for Christians who take the work of God seriously. I highly commend it.

Ian Hamilton
President, Westminster Seminary UK; author, 'The Faith-Shaped Life'

Writing from the classical Reformed perspective on spiritual gifts, Pastor Joshua Chipchase presents a balanced case for cessationism with clarity, compassion, and conviction. No matter what side of the debate you find yourself on, this excellent primer is a must-read!

Joel R. Beeke
Chancellor, Puritan Reformed Theological Seminary, Grand Rapids, Michigan

This book is accessible for laymen who wish to read a succinct defense of the cessationist position that arises clearly from the Scriptures. I praise God for Joshua's joining the battle for the sufficiency of Scripture so important in our day.

Sam Waldron
President, Covenant Baptist Theological Seminary and one of the Pastors, Grace Reformed Baptist Church, Owensboro, Kentucky

... Chipchase approaches an often-polarizing subject with both conviction and kindness. His arguments for cessationism are clear, biblically grounded, and persuasively presented, yet never harsh or dismissive.

Richard Bargas
Executive Director, IFCA International; editor, Voice Magazine

TECHNICAL DETAILS

TRADE PAPERBACK
144 Pages

ISBN 9781527114524
BISAC REL012120
PRICE £6.29 $9.09