Preaching With Spiritual Power

Calvin's Understanding of Word and Spirit in Preaching

Ralph Cunnington

RELEASE DATE 20 JULY 2015

RELATED TITLES

DESCRIPTION

MARKETING POINTS

Is the Spirit present wherever and whenever the Word is preached?

Explores this question in relation to Calvin's understanding

A book sure to cause debate!

AUTHOR

Ralph Cunnington is co-pastor of City Church Manchester. He is a member of the Theological Teams of FIEC and Affinity and editor of Affinity's theological journal Foundations.

ENDORSEMENTS

A controversy has been going on for some time among generally Reformed churches in the United Kingdom (and regions beyond) regarding the presence and activity of the Holy Spirit in the public proclamation of the Word of God. Much of this kerfuffle surrounds the influence of Moore Theological College in Australia. Can the Word of God ever be preached without the blessing of the Holy Spirit? Do we need to wrestle with the Lord in anxious prayer like Jacob with the angel at Peniel? Is it possible to presume on the Holy Spirit's presence and activity? Ralph Cunnington, pastor of City Church Manchester, enters into this discussion by seeking wisdom from John Calvin's approach to the relationship of the Holy Spirit and the Word of God in this concise but significant book Preaching With Spiritual Power.

Reformed Forum

... helpful contribution, cutting through contemporary rhetoric to the actual teaching of the reformers, in its historical context ... a model for those engaged in polemics, and a stimulating study of God's Word.

Peace and Truth

Ralph Cunnington is an excellent guide. With careful and incisive scholarship, and writing that is both clear and cogent, he steers a sure and reliable course...

Robert Letham
Wales Evangelical School of Theology, Bridgend, Wales

This is a fascinating historical look at a subject of vital importance for preachers. It stimulated me to think, then think again, about the relationship of word and Spirit.

Lee Gatiss
Director of Church Society, and Adjunct Lecturer in Church History, Union School of Theology, Bridgend, Wales

TECHNICAL DETAILS

16544

ISBN 9781781916544
BISAC REL080000
PRICE £6.99 $9.99