Let the Children Worship

Jason Helopoulos

RELEASE DATE 02 DECEMBER 2016

RELATED TITLES

DESCRIPTION

MARKETING POINTS

A Biblical take on children in church

Written from personal experience

Offering practical help

AUTHOR

Jason Helopoulos is Senior Pastor at University Reformed Church in East Lansing, Michigan, and a guest blogger at The Gospel Coalition. He and his wife, Leah, are parents of two young children, Gracen and Ethan.

ENDORSEMENTS

In Let the Children Worship, Jason Helopoulos instills a sense of anticipation of what will happen as children are not only blessed by their presence among the body of Christ but also bless us with their presence.

Nancy Guthrie
Author and Bible teacher

In a series of short chapters, Jason Helopoulos explains the nature and importance of worship and then offers practical guidance on how to communicate this to our young people. This is a very useful and practical book which deserves to be widely read in our churches.

Carl R. Trueman
Professor of Biblical and Religious Studies, Grove City College, Pennsylvania

In Jesus' ministry, the disciples were at one point indignant at the presence of children ... In this fine book, Jason Helopoulos makes a compelling Scriptural case for the inclusion of children in worship. It deserves serious and sustained consideration.

Derek W. H. Thomas
Teaching Fellow, Ligonier Ministries; Retired Senior Minister, First Presbyterian Church (ARP), Columbia, South Carolina

Sundays can be the hardest day of the week. I often find myself behind the piano, trying to focus on the tune instead of the visitors I invited for lunch, one eye on my pew-full of children. Jason's book provides solid refreshment for parents and church leaders, encouraging us to think clearly - biblically! - about what worship is and why we do it. Theological framework and practical applications for parents and leaders make this a book useful not only as a how-to guide, but also as a guidepost, encouraging us to view worship as a foretaste of heaven along our earthly pilgrimage.

Rebecca VanDoodewaard
Author of 'Your Future Other Half? and 'Uprooted', Grand Rapids, Michigan

TECHNICAL DETAILS

TRADE PAPERBACK
96 Pages

ISBN 9781781919095
BISAC REL011000
PRICE £6.99 $9.99