AUTHOR

Rev Dr Charles H Chao (1916-2010) was the co-founder with Dr Samuel Boyle of the Reformation Translation Fellowship in 1949. The aim of the work was to translate and publish the Reformed classics into the Chinese language. The influence of his work is being experienced in the Chinese Church today. Tony Lambert of OMF speaks of how 'many young people are now enthused for Calvinism and the doctrines of grace.' He also tells of how 'Chinese government researchers are openly discussing the likely explosion in the number of Christians over the next two decades to over 200 million.'

ENDORSEMENTS

"This small volume has a great message for all interested in the spread of the Gospel."
